

What podcasts do you listen to? What are they about? What do you like about them?

Welcome to Night Vale

Presented as a radio show for the fictional town of Night Vale, reporting on the strange events that occur within it.

Created in 2012 by Joseph Fink and Jeffrey Cranor. It has been published by Night vale Presents since March 15, 2015, and was previously published by Commonplace books. Cecil Gershwin Palmer, the host, main character, and narrator, is voiced by Cecil Baldwin, while secondary characters are sometimes voiced by guest stars, such as carlos, voiced by Dylan Marron. Typically airs on the first and fifteenth of every month, and consists of news, announcements, advertisements, from the desert town, located somewhere in the Southwestern United States. In an interview with NPR, Joseph Fink said the he came up with this idea of a town in that desert where all conspiracy theories were real, and we would just go from there with that understood.

Acquisitions Incorporated: The Series

Serves up locally-sourced adventure from convenient franchise locations across faerun. Their adventures began in 2007 with a podcast of three friends playing d&d, and inexplicably progressed to live games on-stage before thousands of audience members at PAX.

Jerry Holkins (Ominifis Hereward "Omin" Dran (Half-Elf War Domain Cleric)

Scott Kurtz (Binwin Bronzebottom Fighter(champion)/Barbarian(Path of the berserker)

Mike Krahulik (James Winifred "Jim" Darkmagic III Human Wizard (School of Conjuration))

Chris Perkins (Dungeon Master)

Patrick Rothfuss (Intern: Viari Human Rogue (thief))

Geekshow Podcast:

Geeky podcast out of Salt Lake City that is most active with Salt Lake City Comic Con.

Still newly listening to this podcast. Very funny...though quite opinionated on some subjects.