i++) Greetings

i++) Video Game News with Jason

- World of Warcraft
 - Lucid Nightmare Mount - Will take a bit of time and you'll need to get the Shadoweave Mask.
 - Good Walkthrough: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HrBYEzsxLqc>
 - What it looks like can be seen over at MMO Champion
 - Glad patch 7.3 has dropped as new area does look cool and reminds me of Outlands with the burning legion twist.
 - PVP armor sets look great! I may PVP this season just to get the druid set.
 - Titanforged Rate for Weekly Cache has been increased.
- Destiny 2 Beta Review
 - More of Destiny with awesome graphics.
 - Beta was limited.
 - PC version and console can both be run at 4k resolution but PC can run at 60fps while the console is locked at 30fps.
 - I'd definitely suggest installing to an SSD or SSHD drive.
 - DLC for PC and console will have the same launch dates though the PC game itself won't launch until Oct. 24th.
 - PC will probably be susceptible to exploits.
 - Console launch is this upcoming week.
- Overwatch season 6 started this week.

i++) Jason's Techy Talk

- Terry Pratchett' hard drive containing his incomplete works has been destroyed by steamroller. This is in accordance with his wishes which is that this hard drive be crushed by a steamroller. According to friend and fellow author Neil Gaiman, Pratchett wanted "whatever he was working on at the time of his death to be taken out along with his computers, to be put in the middle of a road and for a steamroller to steamroll over them all." The crushed hard drive will be displayed at the Salisbury Museum in England as part of their new exhibit on the life and work of Terry Pratchett.

- 'Pay with your Face' technology tested in a KFC in China. A spin-off of e-commerce giant Alibaba, Ant Financial, announced it has rolled out a service in Hangzhou, in eastern China, that lets customers pay for orders with their faces. Customers approach a menu, select the item they want to purchase and then choose to "facial scan" as a payment option. Phone numbers will be entered as an extra layer of verification but your phone doesn't need to be turned on.
- Amazon sold eclipse glasses that cause 'permanent blindness' alleges new proposed federal class-action lawsuit filed by a South Carolina couple. Amazon did issue a recall of defective and perhaps counterfeit eclipse eyewear but the couple said they never received the email.
- FDA issues recall of 465,000 St. Jude pacemakers to patch a security hole which could allow an attacker to tamper with setting an even change the beats and rhythm of the device.
- Domino's is testing out a self-driving pizza delivery car in Ann Arbor, MI. While there will be a driver and engineer in the car the vehicle will have heavily tinted windows and will require customers to walk outside and enter a code to retrieve the pizza from the vehicle. The people in the car are not allowed to interact with the customers picking up the pizza.
